Barbara Winslow Rebel

By ELIZABETH ELLIS

Not a Civil War story, as the title might imply, but a delightful and enthralling tale of adventure and romance.

"A HEROINE FEARLESS OF MEN, MICE AND DEVILS."

"This novel contains some of the most dramatic scenes in recent fiction."

A most unusual and beautiful cover in several colors.

Several full-page illustrations, and with clever little drawings at the end of each chapter.

The following TOAST well describes the bewitching heroine:

"To the bravest comrade in misfortune, the sweetest companion in peace, and at all times the most courageous of women—

BARBARA WINSLOW."

THE SAGE BRUSH PARSON

By A. B. WARD

A strong Western story, depicting the unconventional life in the sage brush wastes of Nevada. The characters are all distinctively marked, the hero, Clement Vaughn, an Englishman, being particularly striking. The dénouement of the novel is vividly unfolded.

390 Pages. 12mo, Cloth, $1.50

"One of the few powerful novels of 1905"

THE BALLINGTONS

By FRANCES SQUIRE

HAMILTON W. MABIE says:

"Full of insight into character, grip on life, and the ability to handle courageously the most delicate and perplexing problems."

LOUISE CHANDLER MOULTON says:

"A great book."

HAMLIN GARLAND says:

"It is a genuine novel. It is authentic, every page of it."

ALICE FRENCH (OCTAVE THANET) says:

"It is wonderfully strong and vivid."

THE CRITIC says:

"A distinctive book, not soon forgotten like the average novel."

THE OUTLOOK says:

"A real piece of work, full of true feeling, genuine insight and a sincere and sound ethical judgment."

THE BOOKMAN says:

"What gives the book its uncommon distinction is the sense that you get everywhere in it of the far-reaching effect of human passions."

Second Edition. 445 Pages. 12mo, Cloth, $1.50

NOTES IN SEASON.

LITTLE, BROWN & Co. have just ready E. Phillips Oppenheim's new novel, "A Maker of History," and "The Sage Brush Parson," by A. B. Ward, fully described by us a week ago.

GEORGE W. JACOBS & Co. offer as appropriate gifts for the Valentine season special editions of "Phases, Mazes and Crazes of Love," by Minna Thomas Antrim; "Shakespeare's Sweetheart," by Sara Hawks Sterling; and the Love Tale Series, five volumes, including English, Irish, Scotch, German and American love tales. These books are daintily bound and tied with a ribbon and supplied with a special card "To My Valentine."

DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & Co. have just brought out, after many delays, the authorized edition of Dr. C. G. Schillings's remarkable book, "Flashlights in the Jungle;" also, an elaborate book on "The Country Home," by Charles Edward Hooper, a practical manual, profusely illustrated, with definite plans and suggestions for every feature of a country house. They will bring out on the 17th inst. Miss Ellen Glasgow's novel, "The Wheel of Life," a story of life in New York City, in which the brilliant frivolity of society is set forth, and the character of a real man is made attractive; also the seventh instalment of "The Dog Book," which will be completed in March.

DODD, MEAD & Co. will publish on the 20th inst. "Barbara Winslow—Rebel," by Elizabeth Ellis, which is not, as the title might imply, a Civil War story, but a tale of adventure and romance, the heroine of which is not afraid of either men, mice or devils. The book will have several full-page illustrations, with a clever little drawing at the end of each chapter, and will be attractively bound. They have in preparation "The Patriots," a story of the war between the States, 1861-1864, by the Rev. Cyrus Townsend Brady; "Americans of 1776," by James Schouler, author of "Schouler's History of the United States," an original study of life and manners, social, industrial and political, before the Revolutionary period; also, a sequel to "Pam," in which the career of Pam will be traced through her absorption in the artistic and bohemian side of London, and her life in Ireland, to its most satisfactory and happy conclusion.

MCCLURE, PHILLIPS & Co. will publish on the 15th inst. a collection of stories entitled "Vrouw Grobelaar and Her Leading Cases," by Perceval Gibbon, who represented the London Standard in South Africa during the Boer war. Mr. Gibbon puts his dozen odd tales in the mouth of old Vrouw Grobelaar, a fat and garrulous Boer grandmother with a penchant for moralizing, who adorns her advice to her brood with grim and mysterious folk-lore tales, half Dutch and half Kaffir, that have an uncanny power suggestive of De Maupassant. The superstitions of the natives and the religious bigotry of the Boers saturate her narratives, but she puts into them also a geniality and humor that make her a sort of South African Uncle Remus. They will publish at the same time "Foster's Complete Bridge," a concise handbook of the game, into which is gathered everything that a player could possibly need, or wish, to know; also, a work on "The Cost of Competition," by Sidney A. Reeve, whose argument tends towards an advocacy of a socialistic state.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.

The prices of net books published under the rules of the American Publishers' Association are preceded in this list by a double asterisk **, and the word net follows the price. The prices of fiction (not net) published under the rules are preceded by a dagger †. The prices of net books not covered by the rules, whether published by members of the American Publishers' Association or not, are preceded by a single asterisk, and the word net follows the price.

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p., in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no price, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

Sizes are designated as follows: F. (folio: over 30 centimeters high); Q. (4to: under 30 cm.); O. (8vo: 25 cm.); D. (12mo: 20 cm.); S. (16mo: 17½ cm.); T. (24mo: 15 cm.); Tt. (32mo: 12½ cm.); Fe. (48mo: 10 cm.). Sq., obl., nar., designate square, oblong, narrow books of these heights.

Atwater, Wilbur Olin, and Benedict, Francis Gano. A respiration calorimeter with appliances for the direct determination of oxygen. Wash., D. C., Carnegie Institution of Washington, 1905. 9+193 p. sq. O. (Carnegie Institution of Washington publication.) pap., $1.25.

The apparatus described has been in process of development for twelve years. The resources of Wesleyan University have been supplemented by appropriations from the United States Department of Agriculture and the Connecticut (Storrs) Agricultural Experiment Station and by contributions from other private and public sources. Prof. Atwater was forced by illness to retire from the work, and Prof. Benedict assumes full responsibility for the report as it stands. A treatise on physiological chemistry.

Brody, H., and Albrecht, Karl, eds. The New-Hebrew school of poets of the Spanish-Arabian epoch; selected texts, with introd. notes and dictionary; ed. by H.

Brody and K. Albrecht; English tr. of the Introduction, etc., by Mrs. Karl Albrecht. N. Y., Lemcke & Buechner, 1906. 10+217 p. O. cl., $2 net.

Text is in Hebrew. The editor's preface says: "In undertaking the task of selecting and editing the present series our aim has been to fill up the void, the existence of which must have been painfully felt by all who have ever wished to promote the study and intelligent appreciation of a branch of literature which embodies the thought and sentiments of many minds of rare distinction and gifts." A sufficient number of examples have been included to illustrate amply all the more important kinds and classes of poetry employed. Great pains have been taken to give the text correctly.

Brown, Gerard Baldwin. The care of ancient monuments: an account of the legislative and other measures adopted in European countries for protecting ancient monuments and objects and scenes of natural beauty and for preserving the aspect of historical cities. N. Y., Macmillan, 1905. 13+260 p. 8°, cl., $2.25 net.

Compiled by the author "to place before a large number of students of mind culture those articles, treatments and words of advice that have proved helpful to a few."

Estoclet, A. The American citizen's manual: a handy alphabetical reference guide to the political, judiciary, financial, military and other institutions of the federal government of the United States. Germantown, Pa., H. F. McCann, [1905.] c. 124 p. 16°, pap., 25 c.

Evans, Herbert A. Highways and byways in Oxford and Cotswolds; il. by F. L. Griggs. N. Y., Macmillan, 1905. 75+407 p. 12°, cl., $2.

Finck, H: Theophilus. Eduard Grieg. N. Y., J. Lane Co., 1906. 9+130 p. por. D. (Living masters of music; ed. by Rosa Newmarch.) cl., $1 net.

As yet there has been no book in English or German on Grieg. The French have Closson's brochure, published in 1892, and the Norwegians have Schjelderup's work, published in 1903, which is devoted more to analyses of the composer's work than to facts about his life. The author is a personal friend of Grieg, and spent some time in his Norwegian home. Grieg came in contact with Ole Bull, Liszt, and all the celebrated musicians of his time, and much anecdotal material is included. Gives full list of Grieg's works.

Fitch, W: Clyde. The climbers: a play in four acts. N. Y., Macmillan, 1906. 263 p. 16°, cl., *75 c. net.

Although the volume is based on the Quaracchi text of the original manuscript in the Library of St. Bonaventura College, the volume is not restricted to the Latin writings of St. Francis; mention is also made of recent research work of different scholars. Contains a general introduction; descriptions of ancient ms., with Offices of the Passion said to have never before been translated, and a new literal translation of the canticle of the sun. Index. Bibliography.

Franklin, B: The writings of Benjamin Franklin; collected and ed., with a life and introd., by Albert H. Smythe. In 10 v. v. 3, 1750-1759. N. Y., Macmillan, 1905. c. 13+483 p. por. 8°, cl., per v., $3 net.

Furness, Caroline E. Catalogue of stars within two degrees of the North Pole deduced from photographic measures made at Vassar College Observatory. Wash., D. C., Carnegie Institution of Washington, 1905. 85 p. Q. (Carnegie Institution of Washington publication.) pap., 50 c.

Gilman, Laurence. Edward Macdowell. N. Y., J. Lane Co., 1906. 6+80 p. por. D. (Living masters of music; ed. by Rosa Newmarch.) cl., $1 net.

Edward Macdowell was born in New York City on December 18, 1861. He studied music at the Paris Conservatory, Stuttgart and Frankfurt. He began to compose at an early age. This little book is chiefly devoted to a critical analysis of his works. Macdowell resigned from the chair of music in Columbia University in 1902 and since then has suddenly become the victim of a mental and physical paralysis that has robbed America of one of its men of pronounced genius. Of this sad fact the book gives no hint. Gives complete list of Macdowell's works, several portraits and pictures.

Gore, Ja. Howard. A manual of geography: a handbook for the use of teachers and pupils, designed to be used as a guide to the study of politico-relief maps; il. by Franklin J. Albrecht, F.R.G.S. Chic., Central School Supply House, [1905.] c. 192 p. maps, 4°, cl., $1.25.

Israel, Erastus Rowley. A fool in theology. Arden Park, N. C., [Hackney & Moale Co.,] [1905.] c. 164 p. O. pap., 50 c.

The author prefaces his criticisms of the Bible with the information that he was once a "preacher," and believed in the divine inspiration of the Bible. His views in his old age have all changed. While he still believes in an "Almighty Creator," he doubts all that the Bible is thought to teach—the devil, hell, its authenticity, etc.

Jefferson, T: Letters and addresses of Thomas Jefferson; ed. by W. B. Parker. N. Y., Unit Book Publishing Co., 1905. c. 2-323 p. S. (Unit books.) cl., 56 c.; leath., 76 c.; pap., 26 c.

Contents: Letters and addresses; Jefferson's inscription for his tombstone; Life of Jefferson; The story of the book; Notes on the text; List of authorities. This edition is largely based upon the complete works of Thomas Jefferson published under the auspices of the Jefferson Memorial Society.

An intelligent discussion of the absent treatment of disease by telepathy, the author being a thorough believer in this method. He is the author of "Psycho-therapy," and the editor of Thought.

Leroy-Beaulieu, Pierre. The United States in the twentieth century; authorized tr. by Addington Bruce. N. Y., Funk & Wagnalls Co., 1906. [Ja.] 26+396 p. D. cl., **$2 net.

The author is the son of Paul Leroy-Beaulieu, the eminent French economist. His present work was originally published in Paris a little more than a year ago, and has attracted a great deal of attention. In it the author makes a detailed survey of the resources, industries, and development of the United States, analyzes the characteristics of the American people, and discusses, thoroughly and frankly, the more important problems now confronting the nation—such problems as "the immigration question," "the race question," "the trusts," "the tariff," "railway control" and "race suicide."

Lützw, Franz Heinrich Hieronymus Valentin, Graf v. Lectures on the historians of Bohemia: being the Ilchester lectures for the year 1904. N. Y., Oxford University Press, (Amer. Branch,) 1905. 7+120 p. 8°, buckram, $2.

Marks, W: Dennis. The finances of gas and electric light and power enterprises: electric railways, electric light stations, gas works, oil motor cars. Phil., [W: D. Marks,] 1905. 3-368 p. diagrs., facsim., map, limp cl., $2.50.

Marshall, A. W. Practical dynamo and motor construction, for building small machines. N. Y., Spon & Chamberlain, 1906. [Ja6.] 125 p. il. bds., 50 c.

Megraw, Rob. H., comp. Textiles and the origin of their names. [N. Y., Dry Goods Economist, 1905.] c. '05. 5-75 p. il. O. cl., $2.

Definitions are given of every kind of manufactured fabric used in men and women's clothing; the explanations of how they obtained their names are full of interest.

Menpes, Mortimer, (il.,) and Steel, Flora Annie. India; text by Flora Annie Steel. N. Y., Macmillan, 1905. 12+216 p. il. 8°, cl., $6 net.

Miller, Delevan S. Drum taps in Dixie: memories of a dummer boy. [Watertown, N. Y., D. S. Miller Co.,] 1905. 2-254 p. por. D. cl., $1.

The story of the Civil War as told by a boy from West Carthage, N. Y., who went to the war right after the fall of Fort Sumter, when only thirteen years old and was not mustered out until the war was over in 1865. Gives a fair picture of the devoted soldiers on both sides and criticisms of all the celebrated generals.

Minor, W: Harvey. [Richard] Savage, the rake; Chatterton, the precocious youth: two character sketches. Cleveland, O., privately printed by The Torch, [Burrows Bros. Co.,] 1906. 12°, ed. limited, cl., 45 c.

Thomas Aquinas, St. Of God and his creatures: an annotated tr.; with some abridgment of the "Summa contral gentiles," by Jos. Rickaby. St. Louis, Mo., B. Herder, 1905. 22+423 p. f°, cl., *$7 net.

Tonty, Henri de, Membre, Zenobius, Hennepin, L.; Cavelier, Jean, and others. The journeys of René Robert Cavelier Sieur de la Salle as related by his faithful lieutenant Henri de Tonty, his missionary colleagues, Fathers Zenobius Membré, Louis Hennepin and Anastatius Douay; his early biographer, Father Christian Le Clerq; his trusted subordinate, Henri Joutel, and his brother, Jean Cavelier; with memoirs, commissions, etc.; ed., with an introd., by I: Joslin Cox. N. Y., A. S. Barnes & Co., 1905. 2 v., 19+298; 6+259 p. il. por. map, S. (Trail makers ser.) ea., cl., **$1 net.

The career of the Sieur de la Salle (the discoverer of the Mississippi) in a measure links the exploits of his compatriot Champlain, in the north, with those of Cabeza de Vaca, De Soto and Coronado, in the south and southwest, and thus fittingly closes the heroic period of Spanish and French exploration in North America. The various documents reprinted in these two volumes are found in French's "Historical collections of Louisiana," pt. 1, Shea's "Discovery and Exploration of the Mississippi Valley," and his "Early voyages up and down the Mississippi." The editor has followed closely the texts of these volumes, excepting where a careful collation with later editions of these same documents has shown a better reading.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

JANUARY 13, 1906.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter for advertising pages should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Publishers are requested to furnish title page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers and librarians depend on the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of the "American Catalog," and so forms the basis of trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

THE PRINTERS' STRIKE.

FOR the first time within the recollection of the present generation the publishing trade has been obliged to face a so-called "tie-up" of their interests by a labor organization. By direction of the International Typographical Union, the union printers in New York, on the 2d of January, struck for an eight-hour day with nine hours' pay and a "close shop," the number of men who actually went out on strike being estimated at upwards of one thousand. Since that time, of the 247 printing offices in New York City manned by members of the local union, two hundred of the smaller offices helplessly gave up the struggle a day after their men went out. Of this number, twenty-six were members of the Typothetæ, an organization of master printers. Within a week Harper & Brothers, the Funk & Wagnalls Company, Frank A. Munsey, the Success Company and several other concerns have surrendered, reserving, however, a forty-eight hour week, under which plan the men can work ten or eleven hours a day on publication day, the employers by working them six or seven hours on other days keeping within the forty-eight hour limit. As the men are paid by the week this diminishes the hours of overtime for which they would have been paid under the straight eight-hour rule.

Among the stronger and larger establishments to hold out are the printers for the Century Company, Doubleday, Page & Co., the S. S. McClure Company, the Hill Publishing Company, I. H. Blanchard & Co., the Knickerbocker Press, William Green and the Butterick Company, who had been preparing for months to meet the situation, and who have succeeded in securing enough men to continue their work.

Inasmuch as there are estimated to be 98,531 members of the printers' unions in the United States, including, presumably, the better class of workmen, as against 92,800 non-union printers, the situation at present is a critical one, and fraught with many complications. The Typothetæ, before the strike was initiated, expressed itself hopeful of meeting the situation without loss of time. A school for printers was opened in New York for the instruction of machine compositors, and steps were actually taken for forwarding work on the magazines three months in advance, and for printing commercial stationery, etc., against future call. But, inasmuch as a considerable portion of the work on magazines, the advertising, for example, must be done by hand by trained and experienced workmen, the result is still in doubt, though the master printers are hopeful of victory.

The principal argument against the present demand of the printers' unions is that the apparently insignificant demand of one hour a day less for each individual will in the aggregate add considerably to the cost of manufacture. It has been variously estimated that the increase would add as much as twenty-two per cent. and not less than ten per cent. to the prices in vogue up to December 31, 1905. While the proposed readjustment of the relations between employers and workmen does not pecuniarily benefit the individual workman, its definite effect would be to increase the number of workmen for the same amount of work, or, incidentally, to increase the proportion of overtime charges. Aside from the fact that such an increase would render large printing establishments in cities unable to compete on ordinary plain work with printing concerns in smaller or rural communities, the increase on work that cannot be sent any considerable distance away from home would mean a very serious loss to firms undertaking such work, or the imposition of a burden upon a class who either cannot or will not assume it. The tendency for some time, at least, will be to reduce the amount of printing rather than to increase it, and so in the long run the burden will likely enough have to be borne by the strikers themselves. It is reported that certain large advertising concerns, who are now spending $50,000 and upwards, have declared their intention to deduct the increase from the gross amount of their bills and to keep them down to the amount of their old appropriations. That will be unfortunate for business all along the line; but war—is war!

There is another phase of the strike which by the Typothetæ is considered more vital even than the reduction of time—in fact, is considered to be at the bottom of the strike—and that is the question of the “close” or “open shop.” While most of the employing printers have no grievance against organization by their employees, they are unalterably opposed to the petty and tyrannical interference by the unions with the direction of their shops in particular, and to the Typographical Union’s avowed policy to prevent American citizens from earning a living unless they bind themselves by a hide-bound oath to their organization.

CARMEN’S MIXED COPYRIGHT.

THE popularity of Bizet’s “Carmen,” according to the London Daily Graphic, “is as great in Germany as in any other country, and German bandmasters are looking forward to playing that favorite music without payment to the composer’s representatives on and after New Year’s Day. Bizet died in 1875, and the Franco-German Convention provides that authors’ and composers’ rights in their works cease after thirty years. But, though the composer of ‘Carmen’ is dead, and one of the librettists, Meilhac, is also, the other, M. Ludovic Halévy, is alive and well. Hence a legal question has arisen, and a German court has decided that the music may be played, but that the words may not be sung, without payment. An opera is thus declared not to be a harmonious whole, but to consist of two distinct parts, words and music, in each of which its own particular parent has his own particular rights.”

BOOKTRADE ASSOCIATIONS.

THE BOOKSELLERS’ LEAGUE.

THE BOOKSELLERS’ LEAGUE has made definite arrangements for their Ladies’ Night to be held on the evening of the 17th inst., with the following entertainers: Mr. and Mrs. Barclay Dunham, who, as already announced, will entertain the company with a sing-a-log, entitled “Some American Song Writers;” Eugene P. Lyle, Jr., author of “The Missourian;” the Rev. Robert E. Knowles, author of “St. Cuthbert’s,” a remarkably successful first novel, the soul of good humor, whose oratorical powers are known throughout the length and breadth of Canada; also, Edmund Vance Cooke, author of the charming “Chronicles of the Little Tot,” who has cancelled several engagements and is coming from the West specially to entertain the League. The entertainment will begin at 7 o’clock sharp, and unless those who wish to be present notify Francis Gilman, care Charles Scribner’s Sons, on or before January 15, no provision can be made for them at the table. The tickets for the ladies are $2 each, and must also be accounted for by the 15th inst.

PITTSBURG BOOKSELLERS’ AND STATIONERS’ ASSOCIATION.

THE PITTSBURG BOOKSELLERS’ AND STATIONERS’ ASSOCIATION will give their annual banquet on Tuesday evening, January 23. A hearty invitation to attend is extended to all in any way connected with the book and stationery trades. The committee hope to see all the old faces and many new ones around the banquet table.

STATIONERS’ BOARD OF TRADE.

THE annual dinner of the Stationers’ Board of Trade will be given on February 6, at 6:30 P.M., at the Waldorf-Astoria. Tickets are $6.50 the plate, and may be obtained from the members or at the rooms of the Board.

OBITUARY NOTES.

WILLIAM MARSHALL FITTS ROUNDS, secretary of the New York Prison Association from 1883 to 1902, died January 3, at Acushnet, Mass. Mr. Rounds was born in Pawtucket, R. I., March 26, 1845. Graduating from the Harvard Medical School, he entered the ranks of journalism, leaving that to engage in prison reform work. He was the author of several novels, including “Achsah,” “Hal, the Story of the Clodhopper,” and “Rosecroft,” all portraying New England rural life. He was connected with both the New York and National Prison Reform Associations for many years, and organized the Order of St. Christopher, a non-sectarian body, for reformatory work. He was at one time associated with the Rev. Dr. Edward Everett Hale in the publication of The Lend-a-Hand Record.

PATRICK JOHN KENEDY, senior member of the firm of P. J. Kenedy & Sons, publishers of Catholic books, at 5 Barclay Street, New York City, died suddenly in this city on January 4. Mr. Kenedy was born in 1843, at 44 Centre Street, New York City, where his father kept a bookstore. He attended the Christian Brothers School in Canal Street, and for a time sang in the choir of old St. Patrick’s Cathedral in Mott Street. After leaving school he took a position in his father’s store in Centre Street, which was subsequently removed to Mott Street and then to Barclay Street. He succeeded to the business at his father’s death, and steadily developed it, adding an important publishing business that increased to such an extent that in time he took over the whole building at 5 Barclay Street. In 1895 Pope Leo XIII. appointed Mr. Kenedy publisher to the Holy Apostolic See. He leaves a widow, three sons and four daughters.

HARRISON WILLIAM WEIR, the artist and author, died at Appledore, Kent, Eng., on January 4, aged eighty-two, having been born May 5, 1824. He was widely known as a painter of birds and animals, and his death removes the last of the original staff of the Illustrated London News. He helped in the making, either by pen or pencil, of more than 120 books. Of these he considered the chief to be "Our Cats, and All About Them," a quite unusual work, which long has served in England as the basis for judging at cat shows. He established the first cat show at Crystal Palace, with the purpose of arousing interest in the higher breeding of this domestic pet, so well succeeding that the money value of cats rose tremendously. He was also a poultry fancier, and another remarkable work, "Our Poultry, and All About Them," occupied his attention for nearly twenty years. It contains thirty-seven colored pictures and 350 drawings in black and white.

DR. WILLIAM RAINEY HARPER, president of the University of Chicago, died on January 10, after an illness of over three years. Dr. Harper was born July 26, 1856, at New Concord, Muskingum County, O. He was educated in Muskingum College, a Presbyterian institution, from which he was graduated with the degree of A.B. when only fourteen. He devoted himself principally to the study of Hebrew, and after three years of private work in that direction went to Yale to devote himself to philology and the Indo-Iranian and Semitic languages. After filling positions in various educational institutions he became professor of Semitic languages at Yale. In 1891 Dr. Harper was chosen president of the University of Chicago, which, founded in 1856, had succumbed to the burden of debt, and was being reorganized by the American Baptist Education Society, whose most generous patron was John D. Rockefeller. In a few years Dr. Harper succeeded in turning the affairs of the university into a favorable direction until now the property and endowment are valued at over $17,000,000, the students number 3000, and the faculty 361. Dr. Harper's activity did not confine itself to college channels. He was unceasingly productive along literary lines. He was the author of "Elements of Hebrew," "Hebrew Method and Manual," "Elements of Hebrew Syntax," "Hebrew Vocabularies," "An Introductory New Testament Greek Method," "A Teacher's Manual for an Inductive Latin Primer," "The Prospects of the Small College" and "Elements of Latin." He also founded and edited The Biblical World, The American Journal of Theology and The American Journal of Semitic Languages and Literature, all of them published at the university.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

DR. WILLIAM OSLER, the eminent medical authority, it is authoritatively stated, has resigned the regius professorship of medicine in Oxford University, England, and will return to Johns Hopkins University about the middle of January. Dr. Osler and his wife, who is a great-granddaughter of Paul Revere, spent Christmas in Boston. His new book, "Counsels and Ideals from the Writings of William Osler," has just been published by Houghton, Mifflin & Co.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

THE quarterly Forum, January-March, contains an able review by Professor W. P. Trent, entitled "New Editions of Franklin." The bulk of the article is devoted to the first volume of "The Writings of Benjamin Franklin, Collected and Edited with a Life and Introduction by Albert Henry Smyth," whose careful, scholarly work receives good, critical praise.

QUESTIONED as to the ownership of Tom Watson's Magazine, Mr. Watson recently stated to a special correspondent of the New York Times: "The only question which can be of interest to the public is this, that Tom Watson's Magazine is my magazine, as it purports to be. My contract gives me full control over the magazine, and it is mine because I dictate what it shall publish and what it shall not publish. Town Topics owns a majority of the stock, but not all of it. I own a large block, and there are other stockholders. But it does not matter in the least who owns the majority of the stock. I am the magazine. Without me the stock isn't worth a red apple, and they know it."

BUSINESS NOTES.

NEW YORK CITY.—Frederick A. Stokes Company are now in their new quarters at 333-341 Fourth Avenue, at Twenty-fifth Street.

NEW YORK CITY.—J. F. Tapley Company, bookbinders and printers, have removed to 531-535 West Thirty-seventh Street. Their new quarters run through the block north to 532-536 West Thirty-eighth Street, and are equipped with every facility to manufacture books expeditiously and at short notice.

NEW YORK CITY.—A petition in bankruptcy has been filed against C. T. Brainard & Co., of 9 and 11 East Sixteenth Street, by the Merchants' National Bank, a creditor for $2984, on a note dated August 31, 1904, of the company, which was indorsed by the Merrill & Baker Company. It was alleged that the company is insolvent, and on January 2 admitted in writing its inability to pay its debts. It was stated that the creditors were less than twelve in number. The company was incorporated on February 7, 1902, with a capital stock of $100,000, and was an adjunct of the Merrill & Baker Company.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

R. F. FENNO & Co. will publish on the 20th inst. Fred M. White's new story, "The Weight of the Crown."

HENRY HOLT & Co. will publish at once a new edition of Champlin's "Young Folks' Cyclopædia of Common Things," the text of which has been largely rewritten and brought to date. Many new illustrations have also been added.

THE CENTURY COMPANY will issue early in February a new novel by Anne Douglas Sedgwick, author of "The Confounding of Camelia," etc. The title of the book will be "The Shadow of Life," and the author herself ranks it as the best work she has ever done.

BRENTANO'S have brought out the French edition of "Vers le Coeur de l'Amerique," ("The Heart of America,") by Charles Wagner, author of "The Simple Life." The volume contains the impressions of the author's visit to America last year, and is of especial interest to all readers and students of the French language.

THREE novels appeared in dramatized form on the New York stage this week—"The Clansman," by Thomas Dixon, Jr., at the Liberty Theatre; "The Redemption of David Corson," by the Rev. Charles Frederick Goss, at the Majestic; and "Cashel Byron's Profession," by George B. Shaw, at Daly's, with James J. Corbett, ex-heavy weight champion of the United States, as the star.

D. APPLETON & Co. have in preparation a work entitled "The Real Triumph of Japan," by Major Louis Livingston Seamon, who describes in detail the effectiveness of the Japanese Medical Corps and hospital service; also, a story entitled "A Lady in Waiting," by Charles Woodcock Savage, in the form of a diary, written by an aristocratic young girl just before and during the Paris Revolution.

L. C. PAGE & Co. have just brought out "The Passenger from Calais," a detective story by Arthur Griffith. Next month they will publish Morley Roberts's new novel, "The Idlers," which on its appearance in England received much attention, its exposition of the "smart set" in London being compared to Mrs. Wharton's treatment of American society life in her "House of Mirth."

E. P. DUTTON & Co. will publish shortly an American edition of "A Life of Walt Whitman," by Henry Bryan Binns, with facsimiles of manuscript, etc.; "Napoleon's Love Story," by Gasiorowsky; also, "The Letters of Richard Ford, (1797-1858,)" a famous nineteenth century scholar and author of a "Handbook of Spain," the model of the modern guide book, edited by Rowland E. Prothero and fully illustrated.

J. B. LIPPINCOTT COMPANY have in preparation for publication early in the spring "The Fall of Tsardom," by Carl Joubert; "Consumption, its relation to man and civilization," by Dr. John Bessner Huber; "Heroes of Discovery in America," by Charles Morris; and several works of fiction by such well-known authors as E. F. Benson, Louis Becke, and Mrs. A. Maynard Barbour, author of "That Mainwaring Affair," etc.

THE UNIVERSITY PRESS, of Sewanee, Tenn., has published Milton's "Ode on the Morning of Christ's Nativity," with an introduction by Dr. Glen Levin Swiggett, head of the Department of Modern Languages at the University of the South. The edition has several initial letters by Arthur H. Noll. A special edition on Japan paper and bound in morocco boards has illuminations by the Sister Superior of the Order of St. Mary, in Tennessee.

THE JOHN LANE COMPANY announce that the recent supplement to the International Studio, "Mansions of England in the Olden Time," can no longer be supplied in the paper edition. In future this book can be supplied in cloth only, and beginning with February the price will be advanced to $5 net. They are publishing for the Transatlantic Society in America, of Philadelphia, a reprint of "International Misapprehensions," part of a chapter taken from James Fullarton Muirhead's book on "America, the Land of Contrasts," setting forth an Englishman's view of his American cousins.

THE legend that Poe wrote "The Raven" in the Fordham cottage in New York was supported for a time by the exhibition of a stuffed raven in one of its rooms; but the legend is set at rest in the introduction in the unique four-volume India Paper edition of Poe's works recently published by A. S. Barnes & Co. It appears that "The Raven" was published in 1845, and it was not until 1846 that Poe took up his residence in the Fordham cottage, where he lived from 1846 to 1849. It was in the Fordham cottage, however, that Poe wrote "The Bells" and "Annabel Lee," and other poetry, as well as some of his prose tales.

A. S. BARNES & Co. will publish shortly "In the Days of Scott," by Tudor Jenks, a new volume in the popular Lives of Great Writers Series, which tells the life stories of the great authors, in whom every one is interested from the personal point of view. As Mr. Jenks says in following the story of Scott, the reader is taken from the reign of George III. to that of William IV., and from the times of the American colonies to those of Andrew Jackson. It was in Scott's life time that steam and electricity became known, and to these agencies is due many of the most notable changes which make the present world so different from that into which the "Wizard of the North" was born.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS will publish shortly "The Problem of the Old Testament," by the Rev. Dr. James Orr, a scholarly study of the subject, which, in 1905, was awarded the Bross prize of $6000 at the University of Chicago; "Musical Poems for School, Kindergarten and Home," containing a number of Eugene Field's most popular poems, set to simple and attractive music by Caro S. Senour, so that it may be sung by children in the lower school grades; also, a "Robert Louis Stevenson Reader," selections from Stevenson's prose and poetry suitable for children of six and eight years of age, edited by Catherine S. Bryce, supervisor of primary schools at Newton, Mass. They have just imported a one-volume edition of Byron's Poems, revised and edited, with a memoir, by Ernest Hartley Coleridge; "Whitaker's Almanac," for 1906, which is also brought out in an abridged edition, bound in paper covers; "The Faerie Queene," in the Carton Series; also, "Hebrew Ideals,"

Pt. 2, Genesis, by James Strachan, a new issue in the Bible-Class Handbook series.

THE twelfth and final volume of the "Jewish Encyclopædia," originated and edited by Dr. Isidor Singer, will shortly be published by the Funk & Wagnalls Company. When its editor, in the summer of 1891, at Paris, planned his work, convinced that the old Jewries of Europe felt too weak to launch it, he hoped that the honor of its execution would be craved by the young and vigorous American branch of the house of Israel. But, as Dr. Singer recently wrote to the New York Sun, "strange as it may seem, neither the Jewish Publication Society of Philadelphia, with its nearly 5000 members and its board of directors composed of the richest and most influential Hebrews of the United States, nor any other group of my coreligionists felt strong enough, on their own hook, to carry the great burden. A Christian house had to step into the breach; and, honor to whom honor is due, the Funk & Wagnalls Company, with its executive committee composed of Lutherans, Roman Catholics and Methodists, deserves the full credit for having enriched American literature with a pioneer work unique in its kind and, according to the competent judgment of the foremost academicians of Europe, epoch making in the history of Oriental studies.

DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & Co. will publish on February 15 a timely book on "How to Buy Life Insurance," by "Q. P.," whose articles on "Life Insurance Machine" in The World's Work have attracted considerable attention. This is said to be the first book actually written for the policy-holder, prepared in the light of all the astonishing revelations by the Armstrong committee; "Recollections of Thirteen Presidents," by Captain John S. Wise; also, "The Lady and the Ladder," by Harrison Garfield Rhodes. Their list of late winter and spring books includes "Curayl," by Una L. Silberrad; "Letters and Recollections of George Washington;" "The International Cook Book," by Alexander Filippini; "Man, the Social Creator," by Henry D. Lloyd; "Under the Arch," by Lady Henry Somerset; "The Frog Book," by Mary C. Dickerson; "How to Make a Fruit Garden," by S. W. Fletcher; "Hero Tales Every Child Should Know," edited by Hamilton W. Mabie; "A Woman's Heart," by Elizabeth Rathbone; "Dixie After the War," by Myrta Lockett Avery; "Daffodils," in the Garden Library; "Songs of Schooldays," by J. W. Foley; "The Book of Juliana," by Katharine Holland Brown; "Cotton," by C. W. Burkett; "Birds Every Child Should Know," by W. L. Finley; and "The Spur," by G. B. Lancaster.

AUCTION SALES.

JANUARY 18, 10, 3 P.M.—Library of William Harvey, of Ohio, containing a remarkable collection of first editions of English and American authors, extra-illustrated and association books, etc. (611 lots.)—Merwin-Clayton.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted" book-trade subscribers are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print, of five nonpareil lines, exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers, to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents a line, and amount should be inclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents a line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents a nonpareil line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

All other small, undisplayed, advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents a nonpareil line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

BOOKS WANTED.

In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash].

Write your wants plainly and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly" does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," book-sellers should take the usual precaution, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

TO PUBLISHERS OF SUBSCRIPTION BOOKS

The Three Essentials to the Success of a Subscription Series are (1) Absolute Novelty, (2) Supreme Literary Authority, (3) Complete Absence of Competition. In the last four years the Advertiser has compiled and edited four of the most successful Subscription Series ever issued in America, the success being due to the fact that the essentials named were present in each set. He has in mind two if not three ideas for Subscription Series which possess these Three Essentials in full measure, and is in a position to enlist the co-operation of a large printing house, if an able Publisher is secured. # Choice Gifts for Valentine

THE ORIGINAL LETTERS

A book of unique interest, containing a portion of the original diary of Cupid and considerable private correspondence, a pressed flower which a certain young man kept for many years; also some newspaper clippings which witness to the truth of what Cupid writes. The original leaves of Cupid's diary are fastened in the book. Fully illustrated with several full-page and many smaller illustrations by Rosalie Arthur. Bound in white leatherette, with cover design in red. The Valentine Edition is tied with a red ribbon bow, and a large Red Heart embossed with "Valentine Greetings" on the box.

9½ x 12.....75 cents

CUPID'S GAME WITH HEARTS

A collection of letters and documents telling a most interesting story.

It is planned on original lines. In place of telling a story like the average novel, the story is told by the means of letters and documents. First a letter, written on a sheet of note paper, then a telegram or newspaper clipping is pasted in the center of a page, each telling part of the story till the final conclusion is reached by the clipping from a society newspaper announcing the marriage. The book is daintily bound and fully illustrated with many full-page drawings.

The Valentine Edition is put up with a ribbon bow and a large Red Heart embossed with "Valentine Greetings" on the box.

9½ x 12.....75 cents

BOOK OF FRIENDSHIP

This is one of our especially attractive gift books. Choice quotations on friendship have been carefully selected from prominent authors and arranged artistically, with initial letters and border design colored by hand. The printing is on Japan, giving a pleasant, mellow effect. The binding in ooze leather is especially recommended.

SONNETS FROM THE PORTUGUESE

The most beautiful love sonnets in the world are these captivating verses by Mrs. Browning. This new edition places them before the public in a new dress, and indeed an exceptionally fitting one. Every page is charmingly decorated with color sketches. It is certainly one of the finest gift books we have had the pleasure of presenting.

Foster's Complete Bridge

R. F. FOSTER

Q All the lovers of Bridge will be glad to know that we have brought out the most complete and concise handbook on the game ever published, into which is gathered everything a player could possibly need or wish to know. It will serve the beginner as an introduction to the rudiments of Bridge, and assist the expert with suggestions on the science and strategy of play. It explains thoroughly every accepted style and theory of play, while making itself the special champion of none. Fine colored diagrams in the text of sample hands, illustrating the points made, and a complete set of rules add much to the value of the volume.

Cloth, small 12mo. Gilt Edges. Illustrated with Colored Diagrams

Postpaid, $1.60. Net, $1.50

Vrouw Grobelaar

PERCEVAL GIBBON

Q Rarely has a short-story volume appeared so much out of the rut, so full of the definite genius for dramatic story-telling, as this book of South African folklore tales. Vrouw Grobelaar, a garrulous, old Boer grandmother, is filled to the brim and running over with the superstitions and traditions of the Kaffir Dutch farmers in the Veldt. She puts into her tales, with which it is her custom to adorn her advice to her family, the grimness and power of De Maupassant and the genial humor of our delightful Uncle Remus. Even the most jaded reader will confess their striking originality.

Cloth, 12mo, $1.50

The Cost of Competition

SYDNEY A. REEVES

Q A clear and searching inquiry into the economic and moral evils that result from the excessive commercial trend of modern civilization. The author's analysis discloses that abnormal rewards for their labor are given to the traders, the commercial class, who thus rob the producers. His argument leads to the conclusion that some form of barter should be substituted for money exchange; and this ranks him among the socialist economists and followers of Edward Bellamy.

Cloth, 12mo. One Volume. Illustrated with Maps, Diagrams, and Photographs. Complete Index of Subjects. Postpaid, $2.16. Net, $2.00
